She's the star performer of them all . . . she gives us our inspiration . . . she serves as the guiding star for every member of "her" class. She's helped us through tough times in our under-study roles. We remember her at an Aunt Jemima dinner, washing dishes to help make money; making a quilt for us to raffle; winning a coke-bottle trophy as "Miss National of '46" in our sophomore assembly. But most of all we'll remember her loyalty and her wonderful spirit—the applause is all for her—Roselma Messman, sponsor of the class of 1948.

RING II PROGRAM

RINGMASTER

Responsibility for the success of the Greatest Show on Earth rests with the Ringmaster, who correlates activities in all three rings and helps to make the side show one of interest and delight. A roll of the big bass drum and a fanfare for our Ringmaster, Miss Edna Dean Baker, President of the College.

BOX OFFICE MANAGERS

Our Box Office Managers competently manage student activities and scheduling of shows. Take a bow in answer to loud applause, Pauline Galvarro, Dean of Students, and James H. Griggs, Dean of Instruction.

UNDER THE BIG TOP

Under the Big Top the welcoming spot for work and relaxation is the library. Here our work progresses with the guidance and co-operation of our faithful librarians. The afternoon line for reserve books, studying interspersed with whispered chats, and pleasant relaxation in the magazine corner are all familiar scenes in the daytime performances under the Big Top.

Student teaching days form a memorable part of life at N.C.E. Anxiously awaiting our first assignments, early morning rides, trains "just missed", bright good morning greetings, "showing time" and innumerable new things, watering plants, cleaning paint jars, reading groups, playground days in "brr" cold weather, busy holiday activities, reluctant parting from "your kids" . . . these and more are lasting memories. Work and fun combined make an experience we wouldn't want to miss. Now we're looking forward to more on a full-fledged basis.

An important element of every show is that of mysticism. Our show has magicians—the scholarship girls. Most magicians seem to perform miracles, to transform nothing into something. Our magicians, however, perform their process, turning something real—hard work and high standards—into an award well worth working for—a scholarship.

Several partial honorary scholarships and many repayment scholarships are awarded in recognition of high scholastic achievement. Each year there are thirty scholarships awarded to senior girls who have shown excellence in scholarship, character, and teaching ability. Among the teaching scholarships are the eleven established by the Demonstration School, the four Mary Crane Nursery School awards, the Emerson House scholarship and the eight Avery Coonley awards.

Our magicians seem to be pulling many tricks from an empty hat. However, let's remember that there is great preparation for the show. Let's give our magicians a good round of applause for their top-notch performances!

Without advance agents no circus can be a success, nor can our student body function properly without its advance agents, College Council. The purpose of this organization is to stimulate faculty and student cooperation so that we can maintain the highest standards of student life in our college. Council has another big job too, that of directing student activities. This year Council's vice president was in charge of all arrangements for the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Spring Festivals.

This year Council found a bigger challenge than it had had for many years, the furnishing of the Student Center. This proved to be a tremendous job, but before Christmas an open house was held by the Council so that everyone could view the lovely new furnishings paid for by the students, the faculty, and friends.

The first dinner at school, selling candles at the bazaar, teas for new students, the final dinner at which annual reports were read—these, added to the enthusiasm, cooperation and high ideals found at the meetings, made for a happy and successful year for College Council.

BILL POSTERS

The greatest show on earth comes to life in the yearbook of 1948. To the Bill Posters, our three ring circus meant days of picture-taking, pasting proofs, reading copy, and searching for ads.

The National staff's headquarters in the Student Center rang with cries of "Who's got that copy?" . . . "Did you call Mr. Townes?" . . . "Mr. Rogers is coming today—where's the dummy?" . . . Through it all, the Bill Posters strove to make the events of this year come to life for you on the pages of the National—1948.

Y. W. C. A.

UNLOADERS

Charlene Johnson, President
 Maxine Murstein, Vice President

The Y.W.C.A. unloads upon National's students many varied opportunities throughout the school year. Its goal is to bring about friendly, healthy relationships between the girls at National.

The Y.W.C.A.'s outstanding work is sponsoring the World Student Service Drive each year. Though this is an all school undertaking, the "Y" is responsible for the organization and team work always noticeable during this activity. "Y" likes to share one club meeting a year with some other organization. This Christmas the "Y", in cooperation with A.C.E., held a "Puzzle Party" to make puzzles for the children at St. Francis Hospital. The annual Recognition Service with the candle lighting ceremony is a source of beauty and inspiration to everyone present. This year's service stressed the need for friendship in this post-war world.

The Y.W.C.A. offers opportunity in many fields of interest—social service, religious activity, inter-collegiate group work, leadership, music and art. With such a flexible program as these Unloaders plan each year, their goal of furthering the friendship feeling at National is easily realized. We salute National's Unloaders for their work.

No Circus Production would be complete without the Trainers to prepare the actors and rehearse the acts. In the 1947-48 performance A.C.E. are the Trainers who have set the stage for better teaching in their superintendent's interview and panel discussion on "What the Community Expects of its Teachers".

The freshman, sophomore, junior and senior performers became acquainted early in the year at the annual Gold Rush Party and later at the Christmas Breakfast under the Christmas tree at Marshall Field's.

Representatives to the Macomb and St. Louis Conventions brought back additional knowledge of teaching along with memories of a wonderful time. A UNESCO meeting further acquainted its members with the work of this wonderful organization. The Christmas Workshop presented ideas for making gifts with children.

The May Breakfast honored the senior performers, who were looking forward to the final performance and a teaching career.

Ladies and gentlemen, if you will kindly direct your eyes to the center ring you will see an act that will surprise you, astound you and astonish you! I have the pleasure of introducing those energetic athletes—the Bareback Riders! Not only are these girls beautiful, but they are versatile as well. Notice how many different feats they can perform: field hockey, archery, badminton, volley ball, basketball and others, too. All of them are done with the greatest skill found in all National! Notice how these Bareback Riders vie for the reins. First the juniors have them, but the sophomores are gaining. Now they are in the freshmen's hands and the seniors are battling for them. It is easy to see that these girls are really on their toes.

Since Chaff went to press in September, its editors and staff members have been responsible for bigger and better editions of our program.

Major improvements are the addition of pictures, the long desired larger size and the new format made through the sale of paid advertisements.

Complete coverage of all phases of college activities and student life is done by a competent student staff each month. Special features that have wide interest are a column of book reviews, student interviews, surveys of public opinion on matters of current interest and reports of current news problems.

Chaff, alert to improving its standards, sent representatives to the Collegiate Press Conference. Constructive criticism from staff members and subsequent staff consultations after each issue have helped build the aptitude of student journalists and a better Chaff.

With the advent of the fall months the Winter Quarters at 2532 Asbury again bustle with activity, p.j. parties, Christmas and Thanksgiving dinners, birthday parties, and Saturday afternoon teas. These nine months leave lasting memories of cokes and potato chips, song fests, mail call, sign-out sheets and campus lists.

The Winter Quarters are organized with the ideal of student government. Those who lead the dorm board must fulfill the needs of all residents and strive to maintain the happy atmosphere of Marienthal.

The Town Girls have had a rip-roaring year On Tour. They started by welcoming spooks at the Ha'lowe'en Supper Party and then continued the fun by joining the dorm girls in pranks for Hoot-Nanny Night.

Fun galore was the keynote at the Christmas dinner. Turkey and all the trimmings were the high spots, not to mention jolly Santa, who was right on hand.

Spring brought the pot-luck supper, father-daughter dinner, and mother-daughter luncheon. In all, our On Tour performers have had a busy year.

DANCES

PINK LEMONADE

Our pink lemonade is served in the form of dancing. The "Columbus Capers," a mixer featured at the Edgewater, was most successful. National girls discovered reasons for many future good times.

December saw our gym transformed into a winter wonderland. Huge snowflakes drifted at the "Snowball" and happy couples danced between evergreens and jolly snowmen.

St. Valentine's Day found us with "Hearts in Harmony" at the Edgewater, and the last pink lemonade of the year was served at the North Ballroom of the Stevens Hotel. Spring beauty blossomed forth in formals and gay times at the Junior Prom.

THANKSGIVING FESTIVAL

The gift procession set the mood for the Thanksgiving Festival. "We gather together to ask the Lord's blessings", the opening phrase of the "Prayer of Thanksgiving" expressed the spirit of the audience which sang it. Numbers sung by the choral groups which furthered the theme of our gathering included: "Now Thank We All Our God", "To Thee Be Praise", and "Come, Spirits, 'Tis His Day".

Original dance studies on Thanksgiving themes comprised the remainder of the program. The dancers expressed through their medium the mood of prayer and the spirit of work. "In Final Benediction", the final number, appropriately brought our festival to an inspiring close.

SHOW TIME

The highlights of the Greatest Show on Earth are the festivals. There are three rings in our circus, each featuring a "grand" show. In Ring One we have the Thanksgiving Festival, in Ring Two the Christmas Festival, and in Ring Three the last and most exciting of all—the Spring Festival!

The year begins with plans for the first great show, the Thanksgiving Festival. This show flows along a warm and gay vein, or sometimes a more serious, religious one. Always, however, we begin the show with a gift procession; an offering of thanks for our blessings in the form of gifts for children of Chicago settlement houses.

Immediately after Thanksgiving we are launched into active preparation for the second great show, the Christmas Festival. The Christmas season combines gaiety and religious inspiration. This is a beautiful and thoughtful experience to share together at this season. Again we participate in a gift procession in order to share our Christmas happiness with the children of Chicago settlements.

Preparation for the third great show, the Spring Festival, begins early in February. This is the "big" event of the year. Plans are made, the show cast, and rehearsals and backstage preparation begun. Then come the elections of the May Court and the May Queen. The mystery about her identity lasts until the thrilling moment when she is crowned in the finale of the festival. This is the climax of show time.

The devotion, joy, and unselfish labor that produce the three festivals express the spirit of National. Festivals are a tradition, a part of the link which binds generations of students and school life together as a living and growing institution. Tradition is a contribution of the past. The contribution of the present is the act of working together as one towards a common goal. There is much enjoyment in our festivals, but also a good share of hard work—acting, dancing, designing and making costumes and scenery, manipulating lights, make-up, music and publicity. Many a night late workers may be found at National. But the work comes as a part of the fun, which is limited to upperclassmen. Students look forward with much anticipation to the days when they will be members of the privileged junior and senior classes. The gratifying feeling might be summed up in these words, "the spirit and fun of working together as one".

Factors of successful shows include cheerful cooperation and aid of faculty members who give so generously of their time, interest and experience. Our productions show the result of excellent directing, and for this we thank Miss Nellie McCaslin, who proves to be a grand friend as well as a top-notch director. The beautiful dancing seen in our festivals is done under the expert supervision of Mrs. Delta Bannister. The scenery which "sets the stage" takes form under the care and advice of Mr. Kurt Meyer, while we have Miss Dady Healy to thank for the wonderful planning and help on costumes to finish creating the illusion on stage. What is a production without music? Our festivals receive the finishing touch of perfection under the supervision of Mr. Lloyd Cousins.

With the help of faculty members it is a joy for the students to carry on tradition in producing festivals. "Festival time" to students of National means a joyous, happy time. It also means an opportunity to work and play together while carrying on the "spirit and flame of National" in making their show the Greatest Show on Earth!

CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL

Christmas-1947 brought a presentation of "The Holy Night." The curtains opened to show a stable in Bethlehem at the time of the first Christmas Eve. Narrators read the Christmas Story from the Bible as the events were enacted in pantomime on the stage. The College Choir sang appropriate music at intervals during the reading so that the story of the Nativity was told in word, deed, and song.

A combination of beauty of stage setting and costume, excellent music, simplicity of production and a complete attitude of reverence made the Christmas Festival a pageant of breathtaking loveliness.

SPRING FESTIVAL

"OFF THE RECORD"

Spring Festival—1948—meant fun! In true National style record fanciers, music lovers, classical collectors, dance enthusiasts and even a real live disc-jockey took form and materialized on the stage of our auditorium.

Weeks of script writing, secret meetings, night rehearsals, costume fittings, scenery construction brought sore muscles, hoarse voices, tired juniors and seniors—yet oh-so-patient faculty directors kept us smilin' through.

"Off the Record" symbolized to its participants the materialization of a truly modern spring festival. In a mood of lightness and gaiety the choir gave us

"From Wax to Dreamdust," a collection of lovely melodic interpretations. "Turntable Time" highlighted a dramatic album of "Thirty Minutes in a Street," a comical street scene. And "Spinning Platters" gave our enthusiastic audience dance group interpretations thoroughly beautiful in their scope. The New Releases, introduced by our disc-jockey narrator added just the right touch of spice to our collection of record albums.

"Off the Record" meant to all who worked, directed and witnessed it a satisfaction in the success of an idea. National's 1948 Spring Festival brought a thrilling climax to the greatest show on earth.

THE MAY COURT

As the last album closed, one record still remained to be played. It was the record presentation that all had awaited—the suspenseful moment—the real climax of "Off the Record." And as the curtains opened on the final album of the program, the entire cast waited expectantly. As the May Court made its entrance through the opened cover of a massive record album each one beamed radiance, dressed in her white rose-bedecked gown. While the cast sang "Beautiful Lady," the entire atmosphere was charged with suspense until our Queen came into view. Dressed in National red and smiling with grace, she reigned supreme—our Queen Marguerite Abernethy.
